

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A wallet for holding cards, such as debit cards, is provided with a cover and a rear portion, with a slim pocket on an interior surface of the cover, and a larger pocket on the inside surface of the rear portion. A data register, for recording debit/credit transactions, is held in place by sliding a cover of the register into the slim pocket.